

ACCORDER

Meaning: ACCORDER (verb): To grant or give something, typically in a way that aligns with a particular style, agreement, or condition.

1. The composer chose to accord a unique style to his latest symphony.
2. In negotiations, they worked diligently to accord both parties a fair agreement.
3. The award was accorded to her for her outstanding contributions to science.
4. He felt it was important to accord respect to those with differing opinions.
5. The council decided to accord additional funding to the community project.
6. She was accorded the honor of speaking at the graduation ceremony.
7. It's critical to accord priority to the needs of the most vulnerable in society.
8. They will accord you the opportunity to express your ideas during the meeting.
9. The treaty was designed to accord peace and stability in the region.
10. The artist was accorded recognition for her innovative approach to painting.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/accorder>