

ACESCENT

Meaning: Acescent: having a slightly sour or tangy quality, often associated with the early stages of fermentation or ripening.

1. The acescent aroma of the newly opened wine filled the room.
2. Her acescent smile revealed her excitement for the upcoming trip.
3. The acescent flavor of the dish made it a memorable culinary experience.
4. As the sun set, the sky took on an acescent hue that was breathtaking.
5. The acescent notes in the song brought back fond memories of summer.
6. His acescent laugh was contagious, lifting the spirits of everyone around.
7. The acescent scent of blooming flowers permeated the garden.
8. After the rain, the earth had an acescent quality that felt refreshing.
9. The acescent energy in the crowd was palpable as the concert began.
10. She spoke with an acescent tone that captivated her audience instantly.
11. The acescent fruit began to emit a sweet aroma as it ripened on the tree.
12. Her acescent attitude made it difficult for others to approach her with their concerns.
13. The acescent notes of the wine hinted at its youthful exuberance.
14. As the summer heat intensified, the acescent leaves of the plants grew thicker.
15. The chef described the dish as having an acescent flavor profile that tantalized the palate.
16. During the festival, the acescent scent of fresh flowers filled the air.
17. His acescent laughter was infectious, drawing smiles from everyone around.
18. The artist's acescent brushwork captured the vibrancy of the landscape beautifully.
19. With each passing day, the acescent colors of the sunset grew more vivid.
20. The acescent sound of the wind chimes added a peaceful ambiance to the garden.

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/acescent>