

ACOLD

Meaning: ACOLD (adjective): characterized by a cold temperature or sensation.

1. The winter air felt acold against her cheeks as she stepped outside.
2. He wrapped himself in a thick blanket to ward off the acold draft in the room.
3. The acold water of the lake was invigorating after the long hike.
4. She shivered slightly, the acold breeze reminding her that fall had arrived.
5. He reached for a warm cup of tea to counter the acold sensation in his fingers.
6. The acold metal of the doorknob made her hesitate before entering.
7. Even in summer, the nights could be surprisingly acold in the mountains.
8. The acold touch of the snowflakes on his skin brought a smile to his face.
9. After being indoors all day, stepping into the acold evening felt refreshing.
10. His breath misted in the acold air as he spoke, each word visible for a moment.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/acold>