ACRID

Meaning: Acrid means having a strong and unpleasant smell or taste.

1. The acrid smell of smoke filled the air after the wildfire swept through the forest.
2. He winced at the acrid taste of the overcooked soup that had burned on the stove.
3. Her acrid comments during the meeting left everyone feeling uncomfortable and tense.
4. The acrid scent of ammonia lingered in the lab, a reminder of the experiments gone wrong.
5. As the factory's emissions rose into the sky, the acrid cloud darkened the horizon.
6. He found the acrid bitterness of the coffee to be surprisingly invigorating.
7. The acrid smoke from the burning rubber made it difficult to breathe.
8. She couldn't shake off the acrid aftertaste of the medicine that had been prescribed.
9. His acrid laughter echoed through the empty halls, unsettling those who heard it.
10. The acrid stench of spoiled food was strong enough to drive everyone out of the kitchen.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/acrid