

ACRIMONY

Meaning: Acrimony refers to bitterness or harshness in speech, behavior, or feelings, often arising from resentment or conflict.

1. The acrimony between the two rival factions was palpable during the debate.
2. Years of acrimony had soured their once close friendship.
3. Despite their differences, they managed to work together without any acrimony.
4. The acrimony in the courtroom was intensified by the heated exchanges between the lawyers.
5. Her voice was filled with acrimony as she recounted the betrayal she felt.
6. The acrimony of their divorce settlement left lasting scars on both parties.
7. Even in public, the acrimony between the two leaders was evident in their body language.
8. They tried to resolve their issues amicably, but acrimony lingered beneath the surface.
9. His acrimony towards the policy changes reflected a deep-seated frustration.
10. The meeting ended in acrimony, with both sides unwilling to compromise.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/acrimony>