

ADHORTATORY

Meaning: Adhortatory: intended to urge or encourage someone to take action or improve their behavior.

1. The teacher's adhortatory remarks inspired the students to strive for excellence.
2. During the meeting, the manager delivered an adhortatory speech that motivated the team to meet their deadlines.
3. The adhortatory nature of her email encouraged everyone to participate in the upcoming charity event.
4. His adhortatory comments served as a wake-up call for those who had been complacent in their roles.
5. The coach's adhortatory tone rallied the players to give their best effort in the final game.
6. An adhortatory message can often be more effective than a simple directive.
7. The adhortatory nature of the article urged readers to take action against climate change.
8. Her adhortatory advice about saving money resonated with many young adults.
9. The adhortatory call to arms inspired the community to come together for a common cause.
10. In his adhortatory address, the politician emphasized the importance of civic engagement.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/adhortatory>