

ADJACENT

Meaning: Adjacent: lying next to or adjoining something else; neighboring.

1. The park is adjacent to the school, making it convenient for students to play after classes.
2. Her house is adjacent to a busy road, which can be quite noisy at times.
3. The restaurant offers a beautiful view of the adjacent lake, especially at sunset.
4. They decided to build a fence between their property and the adjacent one to ensure privacy.
5. The adjacent buildings were painted different colors, creating a vibrant street scene.
6. His office is located adjacent to the conference room, allowing for easy access during meetings.
7. The two plots of land are adjacent to each other, providing potential for development.
8. Adjacent to the library, there is a quiet study area filled with comfortable chairs.
9. The adjacent fields are known for their wildflowers, attracting many visitors in spring.
10. During the meeting, they discussed the adjacent issues that needed to be addressed together.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/adjacent>