

ADJOIN

Meaning: To adjoin means to be next to or in contact with something else, typically forming a shared boundary or connection.

1. The two houses adjoin each other, creating a shared garden space.
  2. The library adjoins the community center, making it easy for residents to access both facilities.
  3. In her new apartment, the kitchen adjoins the living room, which makes entertaining guests more convenient.
  4. The park adjoins the river, providing scenic views and recreational opportunities.
  5. Their properties adjoin, but they maintain a friendly boundary with a neatly trimmed hedge.
  6. The office is situated in a building that adjoins a popular coffee shop, attracting more visitors.
  7. The school playground adjoins the sports field, allowing students to enjoy various activities.
  8. The hotel adjoins a shopping mall, offering guests easy access to dining and retail options.
  9. The newly constructed wing will adjoin the existing hospital, expanding its services.
  10. The two departments adjoin within the university, fostering collaboration on research projects.
  11. The two properties adjoin each other, creating a seamless boundary.
  12. The library is designed to adjoin the new community center, enhancing accessibility.
  13. Their gardens adjoin, allowing for a beautiful view from both homes.
  14. The new extension will adjoin the existing building, adding more office space.
  15. The river adjoins the park, providing a picturesque landscape for visitors.
  16. Her artwork will adjoin the exhibition, showcasing local talent.
  17. The two rooms adjoin, making it easy to move between them.
  18. In the planning phase, we decided to adjoin the kitchen to the dining area.
  19. The two countries adjoin along a lengthy border, fostering trade and cooperation.
  20. The patio will adjoin the house, making outdoor entertaining convenient.
-

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com
<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/adjoin>