

ADVOLUTION

Meaning: Advolution refers to a process of development or evolution that involves moving toward greater complexity or differentiation, often diverging from linear progression.

1. The concept of advolution can be difficult to grasp for those accustomed to linear models of evolution.
2. In her presentation, she argued that advolution represents a shift toward more complex organizational structures.
3. The theory of advolution suggests that as societies progress, they may develop in ways that are not strictly hierarchical.
4. Advocacy for advolution in business practices emphasizes adaptability over rigid adherence to traditional methods.
5. Understanding advolution allows scientists to explore how species can diverge from their ancestral forms in unexpected ways.
6. Many believe that advolution is a critical factor in the development of modern technology and social systems.
7. The artist's work exemplifies advolution, blending diverse influences to create something entirely new.
8. In discussions of cultural development, advolution highlights the importance of external influences on growth.
9. Critics of advolution argue that it can lead to chaos if not properly managed within systems.
10. Advocacy for advolution in education seeks to foster environments that encourage innovative thinking and collaboration.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/advolution>