

AFFECTION

Meaning: Affection is a gentle feeling of fondness or love towards someone.

1. Her eyes sparkled with affection as she watched her child play in the park.
2. The warm embrace was filled with unspoken affection that lingered between them.
3. He often expressed his affection through small, thoughtful gestures and surprises.
4. Their friendship blossomed over the years, rooted in mutual respect and affection.
5. She felt a wave of affection for her old friend as they reminisced about their childhood.
6. His affectionate nature made him popular among his peers and family alike.
7. The puppy nuzzled against her leg, seeking affection and attention.
8. It was clear that the couple's affection for each other had only deepened with time.
9. She wrote him a heartfelt letter to express her unwavering affection and support.
10. The affectionate bond between the siblings was evident in their playful banter.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/affection>