

AFFRIGHT

Meaning: Affright (verb): to frighten or cause fear in someone.

1. The sudden noise in the dark room did affright her, making her heart race.
2. His ghostly appearance was enough to affright even the bravest of souls.
3. The children were affrighted by the eerie shadow that danced on the wall.
4. She tried to remain calm, but the sight of the abandoned house did affright her.
5. The storm's ferocity did much to affright the animals in the barn.
6. A loud crash in the night was sure to affright anyone who heard it.
7. It was not meant to affright the audience, but the film's climax turned out to be quite shocking.
8. Even the seasoned investigator felt a twinge of affright as he entered the haunted mansion.
9. The old legend was enough to affright the villagers into silence.
10. His sudden appearance behind her did affright her to the point of screaming.
11. The sudden loud noise affrighted the children playing in the backyard.
12. She was affrighted by the shadowy figure lurking in the corner of the room.
13. The unexpected storm affrighted the hikers as they sought shelter.
14. His tale of the haunted house affrighted everyone gathered around the campfire.
15. The loud crash in the night affrighted the entire neighborhood awake.
16. Seeing the ghostly apparition affrighted her to the core.
17. The eerie silence that followed the announcement affrighted the audience.
18. The horror movie left him affrighted long after it ended.
19. A sudden scream in the dark affrighted the entire group of friends.
20. The mysterious flickering lights affrighted the residents of the old mansion.
21. The sudden clap of thunder did affright the children playing outside.
22. She was affrighted by the eerie silence that enveloped the old house.
23. His unexpected appearance in the dark alley was enough to affright anyone passing by.

24. The ghost story was so well told that it left the audience affright and breathless.
25. Although he tried to remain calm, the haunting shadows affrighted him deeply.
26. The loud roar of the lion affrighted the tourists on the safari.
27. Late at night, the howling wind outside seemed to affright her more than usual.
28. The sudden movement in the bushes was enough to affright the unsuspecting hikers.
29. Even the bravest among them felt a twinge of affright as they approached the abandoned cabin.
30. The children's laughter turned to screams of affright when the lights flickered ominously.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/affright>