

AFLOW

Meaning: Aflow (adverb): in a state of continuous movement or abundance, often used to describe a steady stream or flow of something.

1. The river flowed aflow, carrying leaves and twigs downstream.
2. Her thoughts were aflow with ideas as she prepared for the presentation.
3. The artist's brush moved aflow across the canvas, creating a vivid masterpiece.
4. As the music played, the dancers moved aflow with the rhythm, captivating the audience.
5. The dialogue seemed to flow aflow, effortlessly transitioning from one topic to another.
6. With the wind at his back, he rode aflow, feeling the thrill of freedom.
7. Their laughter and chatter filled the air, creating an atmosphere that felt aflow with joy.
8. The stories shared around the campfire flowed aflow, binding everyone in a moment of camaraderie.
9. The riverbank was lush and vibrant, with flowers growing aflow in the gentle breeze.
10. In meditation, her mind began to feel aflow, unburdened by the weight of daily worries.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/aflow>