

AGGREGATION

Meaning: Aggregation refers to the collection or clustering of items, data, or species in a specific context or location.

1. The aggregation of data from multiple sources can lead to more accurate conclusions.
2. In ecology, aggregation refers to the clustering of species in a particular habitat.
3. The company's financial success was attributed to the aggregation of its diverse investments.
4. During the study, researchers observed the aggregation of certain behaviors among the test subjects.
5. The aggregation of particles in the solution created a visible layer at the top.
6. In statistics, aggregation helps simplify complex data sets for easier analysis.
7. The artist's work is characterized by the aggregation of various cultural influences.
8. The aggregation of user feedback played a crucial role in improving the app's features.
9. Climate models often rely on the aggregation of data from satellites around the globe.
10. In social media, the aggregation of likes and shares can significantly impact a post's visibility.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/aggregation>