

ALCHEMICALLY

Meaning: ALCHEMICALLY: In a manner relating to alchemy, involving the transformation or conversion of substances, often with a mystical or philosophical connotation.

1. The ancient texts described how elements could be transformed alchemically.
2. He approached his experiments with a mindset that blended art and science alchemically.
3. The philosopher believed that gold could be created alchemically from base metals.
4. In the laboratory, they worked alchemically to discover new compounds.
5. Her paintings seemed to reflect emotions alchemically, transforming light into color.
6. The alchemically-inspired recipe combined unusual ingredients for an extraordinary flavor.
7. They sought to uncover the secrets of the universe alchemically through their studies.
8. The story unfolded alchemically, revealing layers of meaning with each chapter.
9. She saw their friendship evolve alchemically, changing form yet remaining strong.
10. The ancient practice intertwined philosophy and spirituality alchemically, seeking enlightenment.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/alchemically>