

ALL-HAIL

Meaning: All-hail (verb): An exclamation used to show reverence or admiration, often in a celebratory manner, for someone or something esteemed or honored.

1. All-hail to the heroes who bravely defended our town during the crisis.
2. As the queen entered the hall, the crowd erupted in an all-hail chant.
3. In ancient times, the warriors would shout "all-hail" to honor their victorious leader.
4. The ceremony began with an all-hail to the new president, celebrating a fresh start.
5. All-hail the champions of the tournament, who fought valiantly for the trophy.
6. With great enthusiasm, the fans cried out "all-hail" to their favorite band as they took the stage.
7. The villagers gathered in the square to all-hail the returning soldiers from the front lines.
8. At the festival, there was an all-hail moment for the community leaders who made it possible.
9. They raised their glasses and shouted "all-hail" to friendship and unity.
10. The rally concluded with an all-hail to the movement's founders, who inspired so many.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/all-hail>