

ANTIHYDROPHOBIC

Meaning: Antihydrophobic refers to a property or feature of a material that effectively repels water, preventing it from wetting the surface.

1. The new fabric technology boasts an antihydrophobic feature that repels water effectively.
2. Researchers are exploring antihydrophobic coatings to improve the durability of outdoor gear.
3. His experiments with antihydrophobic materials have led to significant advancements in waterproofing.
4. The antihydrophobic properties of certain surfaces can prevent the accumulation of moisture.
5. Incorporating antihydrophobic elements in design can enhance product functionality in wet environments.
6. The car's exterior was treated with an antihydrophobic solution to keep it clean and dry.
7. Understanding antihydrophobic mechanisms is crucial for developing better protective materials.
8. The antihydrophobic treatment applied to the shoes ensures they stay dry during heavy rain.
9. Scientists are excited about the potential applications of antihydrophobic technology in various industries.
10. Her research on antihydrophobic substances has opened new avenues for environmental protection.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/antihydrophobic>