

ANTIHYSTERIC

Meaning: Antihystéric refers to a medication or treatment used to alleviate anxiety or stress-related symptoms.

1. The doctor prescribed an antihystéric to help calm her anxiety during the treatment.
2. In the study, researchers examined the effects of an antihystéric on patients suffering from severe stress.
3. After trying various therapies, he found that the antihystéric significantly reduced his panic attacks.
4. She felt a sense of relief after taking the antihystéric, allowing her to focus more on her daily tasks.
5. The psychiatrist recommended an antihystéric as part of a comprehensive treatment plan for anxiety disorders.
6. Many patients report that the antihystéric helps them manage their symptoms effectively.
7. The antihystéric worked fast, easing her racing thoughts and helping her sleep peacefully.
8. He was skeptical about the antihystéric at first, but the results convinced him of its benefits.
9. The side effects of the antihystéric included mild drowsiness, which subsided after a few days.
10. In clinical trials, the antihystéric demonstrated a promising ability to alleviate symptoms of anxiety.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/antihysteric>