

APHORISTICALLY

Meaning: Aphoristically: in a manner that conveys wisdom or truth through concise, witty, and often memorable statements.

1. She spoke aphoristically, weaving wisdom into every casual remark.
2. The author crafted his narrative aphoristically, blending humor with profound insights.
3. In his speech, he aphoristically captured the essence of life's uncertainties.
4. Her advice was delivered aphoristically, making it both memorable and impactful.
5. He often quoted his grandfather aphoristically, sharing nuggets of wisdom that resonated with many.
6. The poem concluded aphoristically, leaving the reader with a thought-provoking message.
7. They discussed their plans aphoristically, using clever sayings to emphasize their points.
8. His remarks were aphoristic, each one carrying the weight of years of experience.
9. The lecture was peppered with aphoristic phrases that made the complex topic more accessible.
10. She enjoyed writing aphoristically, believing that brevity often conveyed deeper meaning.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/aphoristically>