

APOPLEXY

Meaning: Apoplexy refers to a sudden and severe medical condition resulting from the rupture of a blood vessel in the brain, often leading to loss of consciousness or paralysis, or it can denote extreme anger or rage.

1. The sudden onset of apoplexy left him unable to speak or move.
2. She was so enraged by the news that it nearly caused her apoplexy.
3. In historical texts, apoplexy was often attributed to excessive anger or excitement.
4. The doctor explained that apoplexy is often linked to a stroke or other serious health issues.
5. After hearing the shocking revelation, his face turned pale, a sure sign of impending apoplexy.
6. The playwright used the character's apoplexy to illustrate the consequences of unchecked ambition.
7. Modern medicine has largely replaced the term apoplexy with more specific diagnoses.
8. His extreme reaction was a classic example of apoplexy manifesting in a moment of stress.
9. The artist's portrayal of apoplexy captured the chaos and turmoil of the mind in crisis.
10. She worried that her father's history of apoplexy might put him at risk for future health complications.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/apoplexy>