

ARCHITECTONICS

Meaning: Architectonics refers to the art and science of designing and constructing buildings, emphasizing the structural and aesthetic principles involved in architecture.

1. The architect's unique style is a blend of modernism and traditional architectonics.
2. Understanding the architectonics of a building can reveal much about its cultural significance.
3. The intricate architectonics of the cathedral left visitors in awe of its beauty and craftsmanship.
4. She studied the architectonics of ancient civilizations to inform her modern designs.
5. His work focuses on the architectonics of urban spaces, emphasizing connectivity and flow.
6. The architectonics of the new museum emphasize transparency and light, inviting engagement.
7. In her thesis, she explored the architectonics of the landscape as a site of social interaction.
8. The lecture on architectonics covered both structural integrity and aesthetic appeal.
9. Incorporating sustainable materials into the architectonics can significantly reduce environmental impact.
10. The architectonics of the new office building promote collaboration among its occupants.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/architectonics>