

ARGILLO-CALCAREOUS

Meaning: Argillo-calcareous refers to a type of soil or sediment that is composed of both clay (argil) and calcium carbonate (calcareous), often valued for its drainage capabilities and geological significance.

1. The geological survey revealed a significant layer of argillo-calcareous deposits in the region.
2. Farmers often appreciate the argillo-calcareous soil for its excellent drainage properties.
3. In the laboratory, researchers analyzed the argillo-calcareous samples for mineral content.
4. The vineyard thrived on the argillo-calcareous terrain, producing exceptional grapes.
5. Construction in areas with argillo-calcareous ground requires careful planning to avoid instability.
6. Paleontologists found fossils embedded in the argillo-calcareous layers of the sedimentary rock.
7. The landscape was characterized by its unique argillo-calcareous formations, which attracted geologists.
8. During the workshop, experts discussed the benefits of argillo-calcareous materials in agriculture.
9. The argillo-calcareous composition of the soil influenced the local vegetation's diversity.
10. Geochemical studies indicated that the argillo-calcareous sediments played a role in carbon sequestration.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/argillo-calcareous>