

ASTRINGE

Meaning: ASTRINGE (verb): To cause a tightening or constricting effect, often resulting in a dry or harsh sensation, particularly in relation to taste or texture.

1. The intense heat from the fire caused the rubber to astringe and lose its elasticity.
2. During the tasting, the astringe nature of the wine was apparent, leaving a dry sensation on the palate.
3. After the surgery, the doctor recommended a herbal remedy to help astringe the swelling around the incision.
4. As the sun set, the air began to astringe, making the evening feel cooler and crisper.
5. She found the overly astringe flavor of the tea unpleasant and decided to add more milk.
6. The astringe effects of the medication took some time to subside, leaving her feeling uncomfortable.
7. He preferred astringe fruits like cranberries over sweet ones, appreciating their bold flavor profile.
8. In ancient remedies, certain plants were believed to astringe and thus help heal wounds more rapidly.
9. The astringe texture of the fabric made it difficult to wear comfortably during the hot summer months.
10. With every passing moment, the tension in the room seemed to astringe, leaving everyone on edge.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/astringe>