

ATTRIBUTIVE

Meaning: Attributive refers to the grammatical form of an adjective that modifies a noun by directly preceding it.

1. The attributive form of the adjective usually precedes the noun it modifies.
2. In the phrase "the red apple," "red" is used in an attributive position.
3. An attributive adjective adds descriptive information directly to a noun.
4. Understanding how to use attributive adjectives is essential for effective communication.
5. The teacher explained the difference between predicative and attributive uses of adjectives.
6. In English, most adjectives can function in an attributive role without alteration.
7. The term "attributive" often appears in discussions about grammar and syntax.
8. In the sentence "She wore a beautiful dress," "beautiful" is an attributive adjective.
9. Attributive constructions can enhance the vividness of writing and speech.
10. Linguists study how attributive modifiers affect sentence structure and meaning.
11. The attributive form of the adjective is used before the noun it modifies.
12. In the phrase "the tall building," "tall" is an attributive adjective.
13. Understanding attributive and predicative uses of adjectives is essential in grammar.
14. An attributive modifier provides specific details about the noun it accompanies.
15. Most adjectives can function attributively, but some may only work predicatively.
16. The attributive use of "red" in "a red apple" emphasizes the color directly.
17. In linguistics, attributive constructions play a crucial role in sentence structure.
18. He explained how attributive adjectives differ from those used in predicative positions.
19. Attributive phrases can enhance descriptions and make writing more vivid.
20. In English, the attributive position typically precedes the noun it describes.

