AUTOGENOUSLY

Meaning: Autogenously: occurring or produced by self-generated processes without external influence or assistance.

1. The metal was melted autogenously, allowing for a smoother finish.
2. In the geological process, minerals can crystallize autogenously without external influence.
3. The autogenously formed structures revealed the intricate patterns of nature's design.
4. Researchers discovered that the bacteria could thrive autogenously in harsh environments.
5. Her ability to adapt autogenously to new situations impressed her colleagues.
6. The autogenous welding technique resulted in a stronger joint than traditional methods.
7. Plants often develop autogenously, relying on their internal mechanisms for growth.
8. The artist created a piece that seemed to evolve autogenously over time.
9. In the laboratory, reactions occurred autogenously, showcasing the power of chemical bonds.
10. The community rebuilt itself autogenously after the natural disaster, demonstrating resilience.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/autogenously