

AVERSION

Meaning: Aversion is a strong dislike or aversion to something.

1. His aversion to public speaking made him avoid any situations where he had to address a crowd.
2. The child's aversion to vegetables was evident as he pushed them away during dinner.
3. Despite her aversion to confrontation, she stood her ground during the heated debate.
4. His aversion for long meetings often led him to seek more efficient ways to communicate.
5. The aversion she felt towards the noisy city life prompted her to move to the countryside.
6. Many people have an aversion to certain foods due to past negative experiences.
7. Her aversion to late-night outings made her the first to decline invitations to parties.
8. He expressed his aversion toward the new policy, believing it would hinder productivity.
9. The team's aversion to change was a significant obstacle during the restructuring process.
10. She tried to overcome her aversion to flying by taking several short flights.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/aversion>