

BACKWASH

Meaning: Backwash refers to the flow of water or air that returns after a wave has broken, or the residual emotional response that follows a triggering event.

1. The backwash from the ocean waves created a soothing sound on the shore.
2. He felt a sudden backwash of emotion as he watched the old home video.
3. The backwash from the blender splattered all over the counter.
4. In the debate, her argument had a strong backwash that affected the audience's opinion.
5. The swimmer was pulled under by the powerful backwash of the breaking wave.
6. After the meeting, there was a noticeable backwash of dissatisfaction among the team.
7. The river's backwash made it difficult for the boat to navigate upstream.
8. As the crowd dispersed, a backwash of chatter filled the empty auditorium.
9. The backwash from the waterfall created a fine mist that enveloped the area.
10. He avoided the backwash of negativity that often followed gossip at work.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/backwash>