

BACTERIN

Meaning: Bacterin is a vaccine made from killed or inactivated bacteria used to induce immunity against specific bacterial infections in animals.

1. Bacterin is often used in veterinary medicine to prevent infections in livestock.
2. The research team developed a new bacterin to combat a specific strain of bacteria.
3. Many vaccines are formulated as bacterins to enhance immune response in animals.
4. The effectiveness of the bacterin was tested on various animal species.
5. Bacterins are typically produced by inactivating the pathogens they target.
6. A veterinarian recommended a bacterin to protect my dog from certain diseases.
7. The use of bacterins has significantly reduced the incidence of infections in farms.
8. Before administering the bacterin, the vet explained the potential side effects.
9. In some cases, a bacterin can be combined with other vaccines for broader protection.
10. Farmers rely on bacterins as a crucial part of their animal health management practices.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/bacterin>