

BARKEN

Meaning: BARKEN (verb): To become covered with or develop a rough, protective outer layer, typically in response to environmental changes.

1. The trees began to barken as the winter approached, their rough surfaces hardening against the cold.
2. As she walked through the forest, the sound of branches barken underfoot reminded her of the changing seasons.
3. The artist used a technique to barken the edges of her painting, giving it a more rugged appearance.
4. In the autumn, the barken on the ancient oak tree revealed its age and resilience to the elements.
5. The dog seemed to barken in excitement whenever it spotted a squirrel in the yard.
6. They decided to barken the wooden fence to protect it from the harsh weather conditions.
7. After years of neglect, the garden's once smooth paths began to barken, becoming uneven and difficult to navigate.
8. The old manuscript's pages started to barken, suggesting it needed careful handling to preserve its contents.
9. He could hear the branches barken in the wind, a reminder of the storm brewing on the horizon.
10. The craftsmen chose to barken the surface of the sculpture to achieve a more textured finish.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/barken>