

BLEARED

Meaning: Bleared: (adjective) blurred or dimmed, often due to fatigue, stress, or external criticism.

1. The artist's vision became bleared after days of relentless criticism.
2. Her tired eyes were bleared from too many late nights studying.
3. The landscape looked bleared through the fog, obscuring the distant hills.
4. He squinted through the bleared lenses of his glasses, struggling to see clearly.
5. As the storm approached, the once vibrant colors of the garden turned bleared and muted.
6. The photograph had a bleared quality, giving it a nostalgic feel.
7. In the early morning light, the city appeared bleared and ghostly.
8. His memories of that summer were bleared, like an old film fading over time.
9. After the long hike, her vision seemed bleared from exhaustion and dehydration.
10. The old painting's colors had bleared over the years, losing their original brilliance.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/bleared>