

BLOBBER

Meaning: Blubber: to cry or sob noisily and uncontrollably, often expressing strong emotions.

1. The children watched in awe as the artist began to blubber out his emotions onto the canvas.
2. After losing the game, he couldn't help but blubber like a baby, overwhelmed with disappointment.
3. The puppy started to blubber when it saw its owner leaving the house.
4. She tried to hide her tears, but eventually, she began to blubber during the heartfelt speech.
5. The little boy was so tired that he began to blubber incoherently as he snuggled into his blanket.
6. In the movie's emotional climax, the leading character began to blubber, revealing their deepest fears.
7. He was known to blubber about his childhood memories whenever he drank too much wine.
8. The teacher had to comfort the student who started to blubber after receiving a poor grade.
9. During the reunion, old friends couldn't help but blubber as they recounted their shared adventures.
10. As the final notes of the song played, she felt herself start to blubber, swept away by nostalgia.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/blobber>