

BOIL

Meaning: Boil (verb): to heat a liquid until it reaches its boiling point and turns into vapor, typically resulting in bubbling.

1. I watched the water begin to boil on the stove.
2. The chef advised me to boil the pasta for exactly eight minutes.
3. After hours of simmering, the sauce was finally ready to boil.
4. A sudden drop in temperature caused the kettle to boil over.
5. You should never leave a pot of water unattended while it boils.
6. Her frustration began to boil as the meeting dragged on endlessly.
7. The scientist explained how certain liquids can boil at lower temperatures under pressure.
8. He was so angry that I could see his blood begin to boil.
9. To make the egg salad, you'll need to boil the eggs first.
10. The sun's heat was intense enough to make the tar on the road boil.
11. The water began to boil as I prepared to cook the pasta.
12. She watched the kettle whistle, signaling that the water was ready to boil.
13. After a long hike, he decided to boil some water for a hot cup of tea.
14. The chef instructed the students to boil the vegetables until they were tender.
15. In the summer, the sun can cause the lake to boil with activity from swimmers.
16. It's important to boil the eggs for exactly ten minutes to achieve the perfect yolk.
17. They were cautioned not to touch the pot, as the contents were about to boil over.
18. To sanitize the water, you should boil it for at least five minutes.
19. Her emotions began to boil beneath the surface as the argument escalated.
20. The scientist watched as the liquid started to boil, releasing steam into the air.
21. The water began to boil as I turned up the heat on the stove.
22. She watched the pot intently, waiting for it to reach a rolling boil.

23. When food is boiled, it often retains more nutrients than when it is fried.
24. He felt his anger begin to boil over after hearing the unfair criticism.
25. The chef recommended that you boil the pasta for exactly eight minutes.
26. After a long day, he needed to vent and let his frustrations boil away.
27. It's essential to boil the water before using it for drinking or cooking in some places.
28. The scientist observed the chemical reactions that occurred when the solution was brought to a boil.
29. As the sun set, the temperature outside began to boil down to a more comfortable level.
30. She decided to boil the eggs for breakfast, opting for a classic dish.
31. The water will begin to boil once it reaches 100 degrees Celsius.
32. She decided to boil the potatoes for the salad instead of mashing them.
33. If you let the milk boil over, it can create a messy kitchen.
34. He watched the kettle as it started to whistle, signaling that the water was boiling.
35. The chef instructed the sous-chef to boil the pasta for exactly eight minutes.
36. During the storm, tensions began to boil between the crew members.
37. You should not boil eggs for too long or they will become tough.
38. The scientist observed how the liquid began to boil in the heated flask.
39. As tempers started to boil, the meeting quickly turned chaotic.
40. To make the soup, first, you need to boil the broth with the vegetables.