

BOTCH

Meaning: To botch means to carry out a task poorly or carelessly, resulting in mistakes or failures.

1. He managed to botch the simple repair and ended up causing more damage.
 2. The chef was embarrassed when he botched the dessert for the important dinner party.
 3. Despite her best efforts, she botched the presentation and lost the client's interest.
 4. His attempt to fix the computer ended up being a complete botch job.
 5. They botched the delivery schedule, causing delays for the entire project.
 6. She realized she had botched the recipe when the cake came out burnt and uneven.
 7. After he botched the negotiation, the team had to start from scratch to rebuild trust.
 8. The artist felt he had botched the painting and decided to start over entirely.
 9. Botching the instructions led to confusion among the group and wasted valuable time.
 10. He was frustrated with himself for botching such a straightforward task.
 11. He managed to botch the simple repair, leaving the appliance in worse condition than before.
 12. Despite his confidence, the artist ended up botching the mural with careless brush strokes.
 13. The team's failure to communicate properly led them to botch the presentation at the conference.
 14. She was upset after realizing she had botched the recipe by forgetting a key ingredient.
 15. It's frustrating to see how easily someone can botch a project due to lack of attention to detail.
 16. The mechanic botched the oil change, causing a serious leak in the engine.
 17. When it came time to deliver the speech, nerves caused him to botch his lines completely.
 18. They tried to fix the old fence, but ended up botching the job and making it more unstable.
 19. His attempt to fix the plumbing was a complete botch, resulting in a flood in the bathroom.
 20. Despite their best efforts, the volunteers botched the event setup, leading to chaos on the day of the fundraiser.
-

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/botch>