

BRAGGARDISM

Meaning: Braggardism is the quality of being boastful or excessively proud, often to the point of alienating others.

1. His constant braggardism alienated his friends, who grew tired of his boastful stories.
2. In a world that values humility, her braggardism stood out as both amusing and annoying.
3. The athlete's braggardism after winning the championship was seen as unsportsmanlike by many.
4. Despite his achievements, he preferred to avoid braggardism, choosing instead to celebrate with his team.
5. Her braggardism masked deep insecurities that she struggled to confront.
6. Braggardism often backfires, causing others to resent rather than admire the individual.
7. He mistook confidence for braggardism, not realizing how his words affected those around him.
8. The politician's braggardism during the debate did little to convince skeptical voters.
9. Braggardism can sometimes be entertaining, but it often reveals more about the speaker than the topic.
10. In contrast to his colleagues, his braggardism was a constant source of eye-rolling in the office.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/braggardism>