

BUFFERHEAD

Meaning: Bufferhead: a protective device or component designed to absorb shocks and reduce vibrations in machinery or equipment.

1. The engineer used a bufferhead to protect the sensitive equipment from sudden shocks.
2. After installing the bufferhead, the vibrations in the machinery were significantly reduced.
3. The bufferhead is an essential component in many industrial applications to prevent damage.
4. During the testing phase, the bufferhead proved to be effective in absorbing impact.
5. They decided to upgrade to a more durable bufferhead to enhance the system's reliability.
6. The design of the bufferhead allows for easy installation and maintenance.
7. In the lab, the team measured how well the bufferhead mitigated excess noise.
8. Her knowledge of bufferheads made her the go-to expert for the project.
9. The new model of the bufferhead features advanced materials for better performance.
10. Installing the bufferhead correctly is crucial for ensuring optimal operation.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/bufferhead>