

BUT

Meaning: 'But' is a conjunction used to introduce a contrast or exception to a preceding statement.

1. I wanted to go for a walk, but it started to rain.
2. She studied hard for the exam, but she still didn't pass.
3. The restaurant was nice, but it was way too expensive for our budget.
4. He loves playing basketball, but he has to focus on his studies right now.
5. I enjoy cooking, but I rarely have the time to do it.
6. They were excited to travel, but the flight was delayed for hours.
7. The movie was interesting, but the ending was disappointing.
8. He tried to fix the car himself, but ended up making it worse.
9. She decided to join the gym, but found it difficult to keep up with her schedule.
10. We had planned a picnic, but the weather forecast predicted storms.
11. I wanted to go for a run, but it started to rain.
12. She studied hard for the exam, but still felt unprepared.
13. He is very talented, but lacks the confidence to showcase his skills.
14. They planned a picnic, but the weather forecast predicted storms.
15. I love coffee, but I can't stand the taste of decaf.
16. The project was progressing well, but unexpected challenges arose.
17. She is a great cook, but her baking skills need improvement.
18. He enjoys hiking, but prefers to stay in the city on weekends.
19. The movie received critical acclaim, but didn't perform well at the box office.
20. I appreciate your offer, but I must decline for personal reasons.
21. I wanted to go for a run, but the rain started pouring.
22. She studied hard for the exam, but she still felt unprepared.

23. He enjoys cooking, but he rarely has time to try new recipes.
24. The team played well, but they couldn't secure a victory.
25. I love traveling to new places, but I dislike packing.
26. She was excited about the concert, but her friend canceled last minute.
27. They planned to go hiking, but the weather forecast warned of storms.
28. He is a talented musician, but he struggles with stage fright.
29. I appreciate your offer, but I have to decline.
30. The book was intriguing, but the ending was disappointing.
31. I wanted to go for a run, but it started raining.
32. He loves playing the guitar, but he never performs in public.
33. The movie received great reviews, but I found it quite boring.
34. I enjoy hiking in the mountains, but I hate when it gets too crowded.
35. She was excited about the trip, but her flight was delayed.
36. He offered to help, but I didn't want to impose on his time.
37. The restaurant was highly recommended, but the service was disappointing.
38. I planned to finish the project early, but unexpected issues arose.
39. They wanted to stay longer, but they had to return home for work.

*Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com
<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/but>*