

CACOTHES

Meaning: CACOTHES: an irresistible urge or compulsion to engage in a harmful or destructive behavior.

1. His relentless pursuit of perfection became a cacoths that hindered his happiness.
2. It was a cacoths that drove her to constantly seek approval from others.
3. The artist's cacoths for creating new works often left him exhausted yet fulfilled.
4. Despite the risks, his cacoths for adventure led him to explore uncharted territories.
5. She felt a cacoths to write that compelled her to stay up late into the night.
6. The gambler's cacoths for winning ultimately led to his downfall.
7. In his quest for knowledge, he developed a cacoths that never allowed him to rest.
8. Her cacoths for collecting rare books filled her home with countless volumes.
9. The cacoths to succeed in the competitive field consumed every aspect of his life.
10. He recognized the cacoths within him but struggled to find a balance.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/cacoths>