

CATAGMATIC

Meaning: Catagmatic refers to the relationship between words or elements in a sentence that are syntactically combined to create meaning, emphasizing their contextual connection rather than their substitutional possibilities.

1. The catagmatic nature of her argument left little room for doubt.
2. In the world of linguistics, catagmatic relationships contrast sharply with paradigmatic ones.
3. His catagmatic approach to the problem emphasized specific examples over general theories.
4. The catagmatic structure of the sentence revealed its underlying meaning.
5. She preferred a catagmatic style in her writing, focusing on clear connections between ideas.
6. Understanding catagmatic relationships can enhance one's grasp of language.
7. The catagmatic connections between the characters enriched the narrative's depth.
8. In philosophy, catagmatic assertions often lead to robust debates.
9. The teacher encouraged students to explore catagmatic expressions in their poetry.
10. Her catagmatic interpretation of the text illuminated aspects previously overlooked.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/catagmatic>