

CHASTISER

Meaning: Chastiser: a person who reprimands or punishes others, especially for misbehavior or lack of discipline.

1. The chastiser of the unruly students was known for her strict yet fair approach.
2. In his role as a chastiser, he often faced backlash for his rigorous discipline.
3. The chastiser of the team was respected for maintaining high standards and accountability.
4. She assumed the role of chastiser when the group strayed from their agreed-upon goals.
5. His reputation as a chastiser led many to fear his criticisms, even when they were warranted.
6. The chastiser delivered a stern lecture that resonated with the entire audience.
7. As a chastiser, she believed in tough love as a means to foster growth.
8. The chastiser's words echoed in the minds of the players long after the game ended.
9. He became a chastiser out of necessity, stepping up when no one else would.
10. In literature, the chastiser often serves as a catalyst for character development and moral lessons.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/chastiser>