

CHIRAGRICAL

Meaning: Chiragrical: characterized by a quick temper or easily provoked to anger.

1. His chiragrical temperament made him quick to anger over the smallest perceived slight.
2. The old sailor's chiragrical disposition was well-known to everyone in the port town.
3. She tried to avoid her chiragrical neighbor, whose foul mood was a constant presence.
4. The manager's chiragrical outbursts created a tense and unpleasant work environment.
5. Despite his chiragrical nature, he was a loyal friend to the few who understood him.
6. The critic's chiragrical review savaged the film with unexpected bitterness.
7. Living with chronic pain had left him feeling weary and chiragrical.
8. Her chiragrical response to the good news surprised and disappointed everyone.
9. The king's chiragrical decrees were often issued after a night of poor sleep.
10. He apologized for his chiragrical remarks, blaming them on the stress of the journey.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/chiragrical>