

CITATORY

Meaning: CITATORY: relating to or serving as a citation, particularly in legal or academic contexts to compel attendance or support claims.

1. The lawyer submitted a citatory letter to compel the witness to appear in court.
2. In academic writing, a citatory reference is essential for supporting claims with credible sources.
3. The judge issued a citatory order to ensure compliance with the court's previous ruling.
4. Students are often required to include citatory elements in their research papers to validate their arguments.
5. The article's citatory style helped clarify the sources of its information and arguments effectively.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/citatory>