

COADJUTANT

Meaning: Coadjutant: a person who assists or helps another, especially in a subordinate role or capacity.

1. The general praised his coadjutant for effectively managing the logistics during the operation.
2. As a coadjutant to the lead researcher, she played a crucial role in the success of the project.
3. The coadjutant's insights were invaluable in shaping the strategy for the upcoming campaign.
4. During the meeting, the coadjutant provided essential support and clarity on the objectives.
5. He took on the role of coadjutant, assisting the commander in making critical decisions.
6. The general appointed a coadjutant to assist him in managing the large battalion.
7. As a coadjutant, she played a crucial role in coordinating communication between the departments.
8. His experience as a coadjutant in various projects made him an invaluable asset to the team.
9. The coadjutant took meticulous notes during the meeting to ensure that all decisions were documented.
10. In times of crisis, the coadjutant stepped in to lead the group with confidence and clarity.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/coadjutant>