

COMPEL

Meaning: To compel means to force or drive someone to take a particular action or to feel a strong obligation to do something.

1. The unexpected turn of events began to compel her to reconsider her original plans.
2. He felt a need to compel his team to work harder to meet the tight deadline.
3. Laws should compel citizens to contribute to the welfare of their community.
4. The emotional story was enough to compel even the toughest critics to shed a tear.
5. Her passionate speech managed to compel the audience to take action immediately.
6. The unexpected news seemed to compel her to take action without hesitation.
7. His passion for social justice can compel him to speak out against injustice.
8. The urgency of the situation will compel us to find a solution quickly.
9. Feeling the pressure from her peers, she was compelled to join the discussion.
10. The law may compel businesses to adopt more environmentally friendly practices.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/compel>