

CONCRETIONAL

Meaning: Concretional refers to formations or structures that are formed by the accumulation and hardening of mineral matter within sedimentary rock.

1. The geologist examined the concretional formations in the sedimentary rock layer.
2. Concretional structures can often hold valuable information about the environmental conditions of the past.
3. During the excavation, we discovered several concretional deposits that intrigued the researchers.
4. The presence of concretional features in the soil indicated a rich history of mineral deposits.
5. Scientists debate the origins of various concretional masses found in the region's geology.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/concretional>