

CONCURRENT

Meaning: Concurrent: occurring or existing at the same time.

1. The two conferences were held concurrently, allowing attendees to choose which sessions to attend.
2. Her part-time job and her studies were concurrent, making time management essential for her success.
3. The project involved several concurrent tasks that needed to be coordinated for timely completion.
4. Concurrent programming can significantly improve the efficiency of software applications.
5. In the courtroom, the judge announced that the sentences would run concurrently rather than consecutively.
6. The conference featured several concurrent sessions, allowing attendees to choose their preferred topics.
7. Her concurrent enrollment in college courses and a full-time job proved to be quite challenging.
8. The two events were scheduled to run concurrently, leading to a busy weekend for the organizers.
9. Concurrent programming can increase the efficiency of applications by allowing multiple processes to run simultaneously.
10. During the trial, the defendant faced concurrent charges for theft and fraud, complicating the legal proceedings.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/concurrent>