

CONDITIONAL

Meaning: Conditional refers to something that is dependent on certain conditions or stipulations being met.

1. The job offer was conditional upon passing a background check.
2. They agreed to the deal with a conditional clause that could affect the final terms.
3. Her acceptance into the program was conditional on maintaining a high GPA.
4. The insurance policy includes a conditional payout for certain types of claims.
5. His support for the initiative was conditional on receiving adequate funding.
6. The job offer was conditional upon passing a thorough background check.
7. She agreed to lend him the money on the condition that he would pay her back within a month.
8. His promotion was conditional, requiring him to complete further training first.
9. The success of the project was conditional on receiving additional funding.
10. In some cultures, marriage is viewed as a conditional partnership based on mutual benefits.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/conditional>