

CONFESSIONALIST

Meaning: A confessionalist is a person who advocates for the importance of formal doctrinal statements or creeds in defining and expressing religious faith.

1. The confessionalist approach in theology emphasizes the importance of doctrinal statements.
2. As a confessionalist, she believed that true faith must be grounded in specific creeds.
3. In the debate over religious education, the confessionalist argued for a curriculum based on established doctrines.
4. He identified as a confessionalist, valuing tradition and systematic theology over personal interpretations.
5. The confessionalist perspective often contrasts with more liberal approaches to religious beliefs.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/confessionalist>