

CONSIGNATION

Meaning: Consignation refers to the act of delivering goods for sale or storage under an agreement, typically involving the transfer of ownership or responsibility to another party.

1. The consignation of the goods took longer than expected due to shipping delays.
2. After careful consideration, the company decided to proceed with the consignation of the antique furniture.
3. The lawyer explained the process of consignation to his client, emphasizing the importance of proper documentation.
4. During the meeting, they discussed the consignation of the artwork for the upcoming exhibition.
5. She felt a sense of relief after the consignation was completed, knowing the items were now officially transferred.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/consignation>