

CONTRACTIBLE

Meaning: Contractible refers to the ability of a material or muscle to be reduced in size or drawn together, allowing it to stretch and then return to its original form.

1. The rubber band is contractible, allowing it to stretch and return to its original shape.
2. In biology, certain muscles are contractible, enabling movement and flexibility in the body.
3. The design of the tent includes a contractible feature that makes it easy to pack and transport.
4. Some materials are inherently contractible when exposed to cold temperatures, affecting their structural integrity.
5. The contractible nature of the fabric allows for a snug fit, making it ideal for athletic wear.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/contractible>