

CONVERSIVE

Meaning: Conversive refers to a linguistic relationship between words or verbs that express reciprocal actions between two subjects.

1. The term "conversive" is often used in linguistics to describe a type of relationship between words that denote reciprocal actions.
2. In the study of linguistics, conversive verbs illustrate how two subjects engage in mutual action.
3. Understanding conversive pairs helps clarify the dynamics of interaction within language.
4. The conversive nature of the verb emphasized the mutual responsibilities between the participants.
5. In her analysis, she highlighted the conversive elements that were crucial for conveying the intended meaning.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/conversive>