

CONVICTIBLE

Meaning: Convictible (adjective): capable of being convicted or found guilty in a court of law.

1. The evidence presented in court was so compelling that the defendant seemed undeniably convictible.
2. In the realm of law, certain actions are deemed convictible regardless of the circumstances surrounding them.
3. The jury had to deliberate carefully to determine if the actions of the accused were indeed convictible under the existing statutes.
4. Legal experts often debate which offenses are inherently convictible and which should allow for leniency.
5. A careful examination of the facts revealed that the suspect's behavior was clearly convictible, leaving little room for doubt.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/convictible>